INDICATIVE OF WHAT MAY BE A NEW trend in city politics, more than 30 residents turned up at the council meeting Monday night. This was the largest attendance in over a year, but there were still a "few" vacant seats in the council chambers. (Photo by Pat Corner)

Residents Quiz Council

Official Predicts Large Turn Out Marks Shift In Public Interest

Westlake took over the city council meeting Monday night, and for the first time in almost a year the audience stole the spotlight from the otherwise routine council business.

Some 30 residents were on hand both to ask questions and to protest certain classification of areas to commercial in the west end of Westlake.

"It looks to me like this may be the beginning of a new trend in local government," a city official noted. "Westlake is beginning to wake up. The council soon may be answering to an audience instead of the echoes of an empty council chamber."

Piloted by Mayor Paul Green, the council weathered the storm of questions with barely a scratch. Westlake residents, while temporarily satisfied with Mayor Paul Green's promises, noted they will return for definite action in the near future.

Regular Attendance

"We intend to attend these meetings regularly," George Pingry, president of the Westlake Property Owners Association, said. "We feel we have much at stake, and more can be accomplished by regular attendance."

The key note of the evening's "quiz" was sounded by another Westlake Association official.

"In proportion to the amount of taxes being paid by residents in the Westlake area, how much are we getting in return for such things as police and fire protection," he asked.

Study Readied

Mayor Green said he would have to study this question, as no figures were then available. He noted he would be able to answer it at a future meeting.

The population of Westlake is now close to 5,000, approximately one-third of Daly City's 15,000 poulation. The Westlake official noted that despite this proportion, "We have only one policeman guarding a crossing, and little fire protection."

At this point another official, Harry Bosbery, inquired as to plans of the city for building a firehouse in the Westlake area.

Firehouse

"We now have a firehouse in the planning stage," Mayor Green said. He said the site chosen for the building was in the vicinity of Park Plaza drive and Fairway. He noted, however, that means of financing, and the cost of the structure had not been determined.

"And how many firemen do we have for a population of 15,000," Bosbery inquired.

Mayor Green answered there are five full time firemen, and a volunteer department.

"Do you think this is enough," Bosbery countered.

Growing

"No," Mayor Green replied. "But you must remember we just set up a regular department last year, and plans call for its expansion." He observed fire insurance rates were low here, and reflected an adequate amount of fire protection.

The mayor summed up the council's attitude. "We are doing a certain amount of pioneering in

Building Is Off One-Half Here

Picture Brighter For Year Ahead

Federal building restrictions, coupled with the Korean war, cut back construction here over one-half during the past year, building inspector George Hopman reported today.

During 1951 Hopman issued 377 building permits for construction at a total value of $4,087,398. This compares to 779 permits at $7,901,970 for 1950.

Henry Doelger Inc. was the biggest builder of 1951 as well as 1950. He accounted for the majority of the 235 homes constructed here last year, as well as for most of the 11 commercial buildings.

Although not on such a large scale as Doelger, William Lagomarsino & Company was second in Daly City for construction last year.

There were 54 apartments put up here, the majority in Westlake, at a total cost of $2,302,960. Commercial alterations amounted to $74,765.

In all cases, these figures represented about one-half the amount and number for 1950.

And what of the year ahead?

Hopman is a little more optimistic. He reports Doelger is now constructing scores of new homes near Skyline boulevard, and contemplates even a larger home-apartment development during 1952. Doelger is also planning to begin construction on the fourth unit of the Town & Country Shopping Center, and visualizes at least two more units completed by the end of the year.

Other builders reports they have plans, too, for more home and commercial construction here.

Democracy At Work

Residents Urged To Register To Vote For Three Elections

All local residents who have not registered to vote, and who are eligible, were urged to do so today by County Clerk John A. Bruning.

During the months ahead, Daly City residents will be called on to vote for:

Two councilmen and a city clerk, April 8. Closing date for registration to vote is February 14.

Primary election of national and county officials June 3. Closing date for registration to vote is April 10.

General county and national elections, November 4. Closing date for registration, September 11.

Bruning stated that there are several thousand residents of the County who are qualified to register as voters by virtue of their residence, age and other requirements but they have failed to do so up to the present time.

"The residence qualifications to become a registered voter of the county are one year in the state and 90 days in the county," said Bruning.

Persons desiring to register or to re-register if they have moved, may do so either at the court house or at the offices of the City Clerks.

Many other registration deputies are conveniently located throughout the county whose names and addresses will be furnished upon inquiry to the Election-Registration Department, Court House, Redwood City.

"Don't Delay—Register Today," urged Bruning, so that you may be entitled to vote at the many elections held in your immediate area, as well as at the consolidated presidential and direct primary election to be held on June 3.

"Procastination is the thief of time but do not it steal your vote for any of the elections at which you desire to express your opinion," said Bruning.

GAY-CORDERS DANCE SLATED SATURDAY

All Daly City residents, and those living in the hills and valleys around the community, are invited to an old fashion western dance this Saturday evening.

The fete will be staged at the Colma Lovchen Gardens, beginning at 8 p.m.

Orchestra for the affair will be the Gay-Corders, a real western outfit led by Joe Lewkowitz. Children are admitted free of cost. The adults are asked to pay a small fee to keep Joe and his boys alive.

Judge Bocci Now Candidate For New North County Municipal Court

Judge Thomas Bocci today announced he will seek election to the Municipal Court of northern San Mateo county.

Now judge of the first township justice court, Bocci is a local attorney and active in civic affairs, especially those dealing with the family and the home.

In making his announcement, Bocci said: "Two years ago I was a candidate for office of justice of the peace for the first township, including Daly City.

"In my campaign, I stressed the need of a judge who would dedicate his efforts to promote the welfare of not only the community, but its youth."

Elected

"On the strength of that platform, you elected me as your justice of the peace. During my two years on the bench over 5,000 civil and criminal cases have come before my court. Most of these less serious crimes were directly traceable to delinquent homes."

In most instances, I noted proper administration of justice was a primary force in reuniting many broken homes and in the rehabilitation of delinquent children."

"By 'proper' administration of justice I do not mean the 'wielding of the stick,' but rather a sensible application of corrective measures, both disciplinary in nature and rehabilitating in effect."

Explanation

Judge Bocci went on to explain that he has decided to seek election in order to continue this type of corrective administration.

"My interest in the judicial work of the court has increased tenfold by virtue of the many good things I am able to do for the Community," Bocci said.

The new municipal court is really the same local court that is now in the form of a justice court, Bocci explained. He said the new set-up is merely a reorganization of several inferior courts into one full time court, though increasing civil jurisdiction to $3,000.

Pledge

In conclusion, Bocci pledged he seeks election in order to continue to serve the community in a "fair, and humanitarian" manner. "I will again stress the need of a judge known to his constituents as a person of fine moral character, and experienced in judicial matters."

Bocci resides at 10 Village Lane, with his wife, Melania, and his two children, Deborah Ann and Tommy, Jr. He is a native of the Daly City area, and a member of the leading organizations and associations of this district.

With Bocci's decision to seek election to the municipal court, there are now two men in the race. Earlier, Colma City Judge Charles Becker said he would be a candidate. Becker is a practicing San Francisco attorney who resides in Westlake and has been active in civic affairs for several years.

Annexation

Broadmoor Association Director Calls For Joining Daly City

A director of the Broadmoor Property Owners, Frank Corso, 784 Maddux drive, Monday evening said he was going to start work on a drive to annex Broadmoor to Daly City.

At the close of the regular city council meeting, Corso asked city officials what steps were necessary for the much talked about move. They explained, and he noted he would "begin action" immediately.

The "action" will take the form of a petition to be signed by a majority of residents requesting the city to incorporate the area into the bounds of Daly City.

Corso was not available for comment today, but Dan Andersen, city administrative officer, noted this was not the first time the Broadmoor man had expressed interest in the step.

"He has asked me before, and I expect there will be some definite action soon," Andersen said.

Some two years ago a similar step was killed by other Broad moor residents who did not wish to join with Daly City. However, the state's ever increasing interest with "fringe areas" may soon make it necessary for either Broadmoor to incorporate as a separate city, or be annexed to Daly City.

NAME DALY CITY MAN TO GRAND JURY DUTY

Among the jurors names to the 1952 grand jury this week was LeRoy W. Johnston, 72 Wilson street.

A business executive, Johnston is the only member of the jury from the Daly City area.

Transportation

Jitney Service Is Studied Here

Extension of the Mission street jitney service to Daly City was offered this week as a partial solution to the local transportation problem.

Del Wilson, real estate man, said he is circulating a petition calling for such service. To-date 20 people have signed the document, and Wilson reports he has met with no opposition.

He says he will present the petition to the city council for their consideration "in the near future."

Wilson is calling for the passenger car jitneys to extend their run from Geneva avenue to Market street at the south end of Daly City.

Problem

He reports he has talked the problem over with George Morrison, secretary of the jitney driver's union, and Morrison has given his tentative approval.

However, the union secretary said the green light would have to come from the city council.

Wilson reports the jitneys, if put into operation, would probably go on the basis of a month's trial run. Should the trial prove satisfactory, the service would continue.

The jitneys would offer local residents direct fast transportation to San Francisco, at a fee slightly higher than now charged by the municipally owned busses and trackless trolleys.

They would follow a Mission street route from Market in Daly City to about Third street in San Francisco.

Preliminary Jeff High Enlargement Plans Approved

New School Site Also Discussed

Approval of the preliminary plans for a new cafeteria building was given by the board of trustees of the Jefferson Union high school, at is regular meeting last Monday evening.

Mario Ciampi, the school's architect, appeared before the board with the preliminary plans, as worked out by him and the district superintendent, Stanford Hannah.

The new building will be located behind the present main building and will be attached to the south wing and on the second floor to the auditorium.

The first floor will be used entirely for the cafeteria. The dining room will be larger than the one now in use and will have approximately a fourteen foot ceiling. The kitchen will have all the necessary auxiliary rooms such as storage room, walk-in refrigerator, employees' room, etc. There will be a small dining room for the faculty.

Rooms

The second floor will contain rooms for clothing and foods classes, also a regular class room, a room for a school nurse, a little theatre seating about 145, a faculty room, and a work and storage room for the stage. This room will be above part of the covered passage along the entire east side of the cafeteria.

The new building, to be of reinforced concrete will form an enclosed court which may be used as an out-of-door dining room in fair weather.

Price

The board also discussed the acquisition of property near Skyline for a site for a second high school. This district superintendent has been conferring with a representative of the owners. The question of price is of course, the main item. The board authorized the superintendent to proceed with the negotiations and fixed a maximum price.

But Little Damage Here

Daly City Beats Mother Nature, But Rest Of Bay Area Was Not So Lucky

While Daly City and the rest of the Bay Area were enjoying a respite from Mother Nature's worst rampage in 50 years, the weatherman promised "more of the same" for Friday and Saturday.

The "encouraging" report said a storm was rushing down from the gulf of Alaska and would bring intermittent showers and winds late today and all day Friday.

Meanwhile, Daly City residents were relatively certain today that they and their homes could weather any storm. Of all the Bay Area communities, this area probably escaped with least property damage. City officials report the amount of damage during the heavy rainfall was "surprisingly small."

But it did rain here. During the 24-hour period from Tuesday to Wednesday morning over 1.40 inches of "dew" trickled down on Daly City homes. The season total is just over 20 inches, as compared with the 15.03 inches of last year, and the supposed norm of 8.02 inches.

School Close

Only good news from the storm—at least for the children—was the surprise closing down of the schools Monday. Monday morning's high velocity winds, which roared through Daly City at almost 70 miles per hour in some spots, cut power lines and subsequently halted heat and light to the schools.

Hardest hit was the new Westlake school. Authorities report the high winds ripped off a portion of the roof, and exposed the rooms to three to four inches of rain.

Power Out

The power failure early Monday morning also caused some distress in the rest of Daly City. Lights were out at 3:30 a.m. and then from 4:30 a.m. to about 9:30 a.m., causing no little confusion to those trying to cook breakfast on an

Jefferson High Teacher Seeks Congress Post

V. G. Binsacca One Of Five Candidates

A Jefferson high school teacher, Victor G. Binsacca, this week announced he will be a Democratic candidate for his party's nomination to congress from the newly created Ninth district.

Binsacca, who is also a member of the San Mateo city council, has been teaching at Jefferson for the past seven years. He is 46-years-old, and resides with his wife and two children in San Mateo.

He said he will appear before the Democratic county convention next month to ask the party's support in the 1952 congressional race.

Binsacca is the fifth to toss his hat into the new Ninth district congressional ring which supplants the present Eighth District, represented by Congressman Jack Anderson (Rep.) who is slated to retire.

Other candidates include: Justice of the Peace Daniel Creedon and Councilman Herschel Campbell of San Mateo; and Henry F. Misselwitz of San Carlos; and Mrs. Lucille F. Athearne, San Francisco attorney.

electric range.

Of more serious damage, the police department reported:

The tar paper roof at the home of M. A. Hunter, 19 Guadalupe, was completely blown off Monday morning. The fire department lent a helping hand by covering the gaping hole over the five room structure with a large tarp.

Nursery Flooded

The nursery at School and Junipero Serra suffered considerable flood damage, as water backed into the recess where the glass houses are located.

Plate glass windows at the Shell Service station, North park and Junipero Serra, and the Westlake Maple Shop, 6940 Mission street, gave way before the Monday morning wind.

Scores of awnings and smaller trees and wires were also swept away.

Streets

Residents in the Crocker tract had some trouble with the streets. Heavy waters from the Crocker hills washed out portions of Templeton and Irving, as well as Bellevue and Frankfort.

In the southern sections of Daly City, in the vicinity of First and Valley streets, the first department was busy pumping out flooded basements and cleaning street drains. Thanks to their quick action, damage was limited.

Broadmoor

In Broadmoor the rains brought really serious trouble.

Larchmont drive, Stewart street and 88th street suffered most from the storm, but practically every street in Broadmoor was flooded, according to report received from Broadmoor Chief of Police Paul Schmidt.

On the streets bearing the burden of the storm damage, some of the houses were flooded with as much as four feet of water, while the nursery on 88th street was under water. In general, damage sustained in this new flood followed the pattern of the damage inflicted by the storm several weeks ago.

Additional damage wrought by this week's storm included the large landslide which occurred between McArthur and Larchmont drives. Monday Junipero Serra boulevard was closed to traffic between 7 a.m. and 12 noon by the Washington street overpass.

A section of the Old San Pedro Road, 500 feet south of Gilman drive, slid away.

Enlistments Still Open

Young men may still enlist in the Army or Air Force even though they have had their pre-induction physical examination, according to Lt. Col. Ray O. Busch of the Army and Air Force Recruiting Service.

They must enlist, however, before they have received their actual induction notice.

"In the past," Col. Busch stated, "many men wait too long and find that their Selective Service Board has issued an induction notice for them. The solution is to apply for enlistment immediately, while there is still an opportunity to choose."

Further information may be obtained at the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting stations at 2863 Mission street, 5840 Geary street or 30 Van Ness avenue.

CAR MAINTENANCE

Periodical inspection of your car's generator, fan belt, fuel pump, ignition points and spark plugs is recommended. The California State Automobile Association says you can save yourself the embarrassment of a breakdown by taking care of your car.

Westlake Awakes To Council Meets

the structure of city government. This takes time."

Earlier, Pingry inquired as to the city's plans for installing a sidewalk from Junipero Serra boulevard west on the north side of Alemany Extension. In his capacity as an official of the state highway department, Pingry said the state would allow the city to put in the walk.

Sidewalk Out

The mayor said the city "can not" and "will not" put in such a walk. He explained this was the job of the property owners boarding the property (now held by the Henry Doelger Co.) or the Westlake Property Owners Association.

Pingry then inquired why Councilman Fred Bertetta, at the last meeting of the Association, had said the city would do the work. Bertetta replied he had not meant sidewalks, but merely blacktopping the area which was turned into mud when the Knowles street extension went through.

Before the question and answer session, the Westlake residents had made a definite protest for reclassifying certain sections of property near Merced Drive and Alemany, termed as the "H" section, and near Fieldcrest drive.

Objections

Mr. Dunham, 80 Cliffside Drive, said he objected to the rezoning as there are "already enough commercial areas," and the action would lower the value of property in the area. He was seconded by Albert Alterman, 286 Wilshire, and several other home owners.

Pingry then observed the posting of the proposed hearing had been inaccurate in that the areas were not designated properly. He called for postponement of the question, and the council obliged by putting off a decision until February 11.

Other business before the council included:

1. A call for action from Frank Corso, 784 Maddux drive, for draining a 10 foot deep pond in the area adjoining Westlake and Broadmoor. He said the pond had been formed from the heavy rains, and the earlier earth moving of the Doelger Corporation. The council promised to investigate the matter.

New Cab

2. Heard an application from James Wooten, San Francisco, to operate a taxicab in Daly City. The council referred the matter to the police department for recommendation. Wooten, a former employe of the Hilltop Cab Company, said he would operate one cab during the rush hours to assist public transportation.

3. Mr. Leinnger from the Crocker district protested the present set back being followed by a builder on Bellevue. The council pointed out this had been thrashed out at a previous meeting, and the set back was now a matter of law.

4. The council approved a salary schedule of $5 more above sergeant's pay for the new inspector's post; and $15 above a sergeant's scale for the rank of detective inspector.

Westlake Association

Committee Chairmen Named

At the January meeting of the Westlake Improvement Association's board of directors the following committee charmen were appointed:

*Architectural, Fred N. Kruse; Bylaws, Harry Bosbery; Civil Defense, Frank Taylor; Clubhouse, Harry Bosbery; Fire & Police Protection, Wm. B. Ziegler; Membership, A. L. Desmond; Publicity, Walter Henderson; Schools, Charles Becker; Social, Harry Bosbery; Streets & Highways, John S. Daniels; Transportation, Geo. S. Pingry.

The committee chairmen desire voluntary workers to serve on the committees with them. Contact the chairmen of the committees on which you are willing to serve and offer your services.

Architectural Policies

The architectural committee, headed by Fred N. Kruse, has been given probably the most difficult assignment of any of the committees. It is to help you with your architectural problems, yet to see that the bylaws of the Association are complied with.

Before making any changes in your property, read your Bylaws carefully; and, if your proposed improvement is restricted, write the Westlake Improvement Association, 95 South Mayfair, Daly City 25, California, and some member of the committee will call and discuss your proposal with you.

The Board of Directors, at its January 7 meeting, took two drastic but necessary steps. It has authorized the Architectural Committee to proceed as follows:

1. On the next violation of the Architectural Section of the Bylaws, a temporary restraining order is to be issued for the purpose of stopping the work.

2. Bring the necessary Court actions to abate the violations of the architectural restrictions as set forth in Part II of the Association Bylaws.

Transportation

The board of directors has authorized the transportation committee to conduct a survey of the Westlake area to determine the travel habits of the people in an effort to bring about improved service to the community.

Voluntary workers are needed to help with this survey.

Three Teams Still Tied In Bowling League

Fred Marino High Man Monday Night

Still all tied up for first place in the Daly City bowlers league are the Daly City Lions, College Hill Meat Market and the Central Club.

In the regular Monday night match the Daly City Lions topped the Brisbane Lions in two sets. Central Club keglers rowled over Lombardi, and College Hill chopped up Thur Meats. The Eagles won their two games from the Foresters.

Helping the College Hill to remain on top of the heap was Fred Marino who rolled a 227 and came up with 555 for tpo man in the series. Second on the roster was Herm Kallinin who bowled over the pins for 204 in one game, and hit the series mark of 515.

Fololwing is the standing of the clubs, today:

	W	L
Daly City Lions	27	21
College Hill Meat	27	21
Central Club	27	21
Thur Meat	24	24
Lombardi	23	25

USE ENGINE AS BRAKE

Drivers who would rather be safe than flashy usually use the engine as a brake when descending a steep grade, points out the National Automobile Club. On the level the brakes pull only against the car's momentum. On the downgrade, they fight momentum plus gravity. That is a much harder battle.

TON THEFT

Thieves Had Lead Only In Their Hands

Thieves with lead only in their hands, stole one ton of the plumbers material from a Westlake tool shed Sunday evening, police reported today.

Officers believe the quick moving thugs backed a truck up to the Lynnwood and Crestwood streets shed and loaded it with the 50 pound lead molds.

Milt Holchide, manager of the New Mission Plumbing Warehouse, 3401 Mission, reports the ton of lead was valued at $600.

Officer John Walsh said today this was a common type of theft and the lead was usually melted down and resold to junk yards.

Boys: The Navy Still Wants You

The Navy Recruiting Station in San Mateo announced today that pre-inductees can continue to volunteer for enlistment in the United States Navy.

According to Chief Walter Hallfarth, local Navy Recruiter, the time limit has been extended to March 31.

Young men who have taken their pre-induction physical and mental examinations or have received orders to report for such examinations, BUT HAVE NOT received actual orders for induction, CAN STILL VOLUNTEER FOR THE NAVY.

Chief Hallfarth reports there are over 30 trade training schools for which many of the young men are eligible, and 62 major job fields for which they are eligible.

The Navy Recruiting Station is located in the Post Office Building in San Mateo and is open from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Grace Church Holds Meeting

Members of the Grace Presbyterian church held their annual congregational business meeting January 9th when many excellent reports from all the organizations were heard by the large number of persons in attendance.

Mr. Joe Swan, church treasurer for the past eight years, gave an especially good report. He is assisted by Mrs. Einar S. Hanson, financial secretary.

The women's council reported the best year since its organization.

The following officers were elected according to the Rotary system: Elders: Alfred Greig, Walter Kesler, William Toms; deaconesses, Mesdames Margaret Archer and Einar S. Hanson; trustees, A. C. McFadden, Albert Koshaba and Ronald Dickson.

There will be ordination and installation of officers in connection with the morning worship service on January 20.

Women's Council Meets January 24

The regular meeting of the Women's Council of the Grace Presbyterian church will be held at the church, Thursday, January 24.

Meetings will begin with that of the executive committee with Mrs. Andrew Anker, president, in charge, at 11:30 a.m.

Circles No. 2 and 3 have arranged for a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. to which everybody is welcome.

A business meeting at 1:30 p.m. will be followed by a program, the topic of which is "The Challenge of Our Heritage."

Year books will be distributed.

Lt. Litton Named To Red Cross Job

Local Man Serving In European Theatre

First Lieutenant Andrew L. Litton of 163 Willits street has been named by his commanding officer as an instructor in military safety after completing a Red Cross instructors' course in accident prevention and first aid, it was announced today by American Red Cross European Headquarters at Esslingen, Germany.

First Lt. Litton, who is with the Transportation Traffic Regulation Company at Linz, Austria, is the husband of Mrs. Emma Litton of 163 Willits street.

The Red Cross course which he took was established in Europe at the request of military authorities, to reduce the number of accidents involving American service personnel. Before these courses were begun, accidents in Europe were costing American taxpayers more than $500,000 a month, according to military sources.

ATTENTION . . . NON-DRIVERS
You can LEARN TO DRIVE safely and easily, when you take lessons in this FORD DUAL CONTROL SAFETY CAR

- There are two steering wheels, two brakes, two clutches, two accelerators, two starters. Your trained instructor can "take over" instantly any time. You learn in actual traffic.
- No need to depend on others—not when you can drive yourself after only a few worry-free lessons.
- Remember—statistics show professionally-trained drivers have 50 per cent less accidents than those who learned at home. Play safe when you learn . . .

WESTLAKE HERALDS A NEW ERA

It shouldn't take a political expert to realize Monday night marked a new era in the history of Daly City politics.

At the regular council meeting some 30 people, the majority from Westlake, showed up to make themselves heard. What was more important, the leading officials from the Westlake Property Owners Association promised they will hereafter attend all council meetings.

The remarkable thing was the negative side of the meeting. With the exception of three "regulars" no one was representing the east side of Junipero Serra Boulevard...the older section of Daly City.

The preponderance of attendance from Westlake can be understood by the fact it is a new district, with new blood, in need of new improvements. It may be the larger section of Daly City, long ago settled, have taken no interest in the council because they have no problems, no real stake in the future of Daly City.

But the Westlake residents left no doubt this is not the case with them. They, representing at least one-third of Daly City's population, want to be heard. Once more, they promise to elect men (and they can do it, because they turn out for an election) who will listen and take some action.

At the present rate of growth, Westlake soon will equal at least half, if not more than half, of the population of our city. Now only a strong voice, they are on their way to being the big club in local politics.

This, we believe, is a healthy sign. A good government is only a government in which its citizens take an active part. Unfortunately, this has not been the case here for at least two years. Westlake is out to change the apathy which so long has cloaked the dry, dead council meetings.

Just what can be accomplished by asking simple questions was forcefully introduced at Monday's council meeting. Westlake officials want to know such things as: "When are we going to get a fire house? What about sidewalks? Is police and fire protection adequate?" And more important was the key question of the evening: "Are we getting a proportionate share of the benefits from our tax dollars?"

The council answered these questions honestly, and often asked for more time to give a comprehensive reply. No one could expect a complete solution to the problems presented, but at least by bringing them up the taxpayers let the city officials know they wanted satisfaction.

And action will be forthcoming...but only if Westlake continues to show interest.

We fervently hope that this indeed is a new era, an era in which people again will take enough interest in themselves to be a part and voice of their government.

Once more we pray the other Daly City residents will take a hint from Westlake, will turn out for council meetings, and ask just half as many important questions as posed Monday evening.

COMMUTERS GET A GOOD SOAKING

In proportion to the rest of the Bay Area, Daly City escaped serious damage in the recent flood activities of Mother Nature.

We bring this up to illustrate a point we have been trying to make for some time. While local real estate was relatively dry, many a commuter was soaked. He or she was doused, simply because Daly City has failed to provide adequate bus shelters.

We don't understand why the city fathers are unable to shake loose a few dollars from the tight city budget to erect two or three of these shelters. We believe it is more apathy, than any dire plan to remove the roof from a poor commuter's rain soaked head.

It is true most of the city councilmen (with the exception of Ed Mooney) do not rely on the busses and trackless trolleys. They are so far removed from the problem as to comfortably ignore it.

We venture to say if they had been forced to ride busses and trolleys during the rainy days, we would have men working on those shelters today.

Come, gentlemen, let's have some action. Give the commuters a break. Put up two or three inexpensive shelters.

A SOLUTION FOR ATTENDANCE

How do you get residents to turn out for a city council meeting?

We have been trying to find the answer to that one for over two years. Last week a civic minded lady presented what may be the answer.

She proposes that each local organization appoint a civic chairman to attend at least one meeting of the city council a month. The chairman would, in turn, report back to the group he or she represented.

The representative would act as a liason officer between the council and his or her organization. In this way the spokesman could bring up questions of interest to a group, and have them answered by the council.

This might be the answer to the lack of speed demonstrated by all city bodies. When pushed and questioned each week by a number of interested citizens, it is surprising how much more quickly a public issue is settled by the council.

The councilmen, too, have endorsed this plan. They are as eager as anyone to have their "bosses" make themselves heard.

We hope club officials will make it a point to bring this topic up for discussion; to carry it through by actually setting up an office for council attendance.

(Readers will note in another editorial that the new residents of Westlake have lead the way in this matter. Officers of their Association have promised hereafter to attend at least a majority of the council meetings.)

TRANSPORTATION AID PLAN READIED

Extension of the Mission street jitney service to Market and Mission in Colma was offered this week as a possible solution to the transportation problem here.

From what we have been able to learn it is not the whole answer, but it certainly will be a big help.

The plan calls for running the familiar passenger cars on a regular schedule, at the regular rates, from the Colma city line to San Francisco.

This will serve to augment the bus and trackless trolley system, and may break the bottleneck which is so infuriating to passengers who want to get to and from San Francisco without a long wait.

Del Wilson, local realtor, is to be given credit for sponsoring the plan. And whether it succeeds or not, he is to be commended for taking an interest in our present transportation problems.

We understand Del is now circulating a petition calling for the service. The petition will be submitted to the city council for their approval.

Those interested in making sure this plan goes over are asked to contact Del by calling him at his Daly City home, PLaza 5-4177, after 5 p. m.

REGISTER TODAY TO VOTE TOMORROW

This is the taxpayers' year. It's been a long time coming, but for the first time in two years the long suffering may make themselves heard. We speak of the city, county and national elections.

There is a law in the land that in order to vote you must register. And it is later than you think.

Those new residents planning to cast a vote in the April 8 city election, have only until February 14 to make it legal by registering with the city clerk. The registration deadline for the county and national primary election is April 10.

The importance of voting need not be repeated. We are all familiar with what a single vote can do to either build or destroy a community.

And your one vote is important. If we remember correctly, it was those millions of "one votes" four years ago that elected a president everyone was sure had lost.

On the local level, the failure of the "one vote" lost us the completion of the Community Center building. Everyone was sure it would pass, few bothered to turn out.

We all know we have a patriotic duty to cast a vote. But, more important, is the need to let the politicos know who their real bosses are; to forcefully remind them that the people still run this country—not a machine.

We urge you to register this month.

Register today to make yourself heard tomorrow.

State Taxation

California Chamber Of Commerce Calls For Tax Cutback To 1943 Levy

Certain that the State Treasury will have a surplus well over $100,000,000 by the end of next June, the California State Chamber of Commerce today advocated a return to the lower tax base of 1943.

Lloyd Dinkelspiel, San Francisco, chairman of the Chamber's Statewide Taxation Committee, said, "the State's financial ability to reduce comes as a timely relief to individuals and business in California who are already burdened with extraordinarily heavy federal taxes."

Reviewing California's current budget, Dinkelspiel pointed out that the surplus in all probability had developed because of the continued high rate of business activity since Korean hostilities.

He predicted that revenues would continue at the same high levels and that normal state governmental spending would be reached because of war-caused shortages of men and material.

Savings

"A return to the 1943 tax rates would mean a reduction of one-half cent in the sales tax, a $1,000 increase in personal income tax exemptions and a 15 per cent reduction in the State's taxes on business."

Dinkelspiel said that reducing business taxes was as important as allowing higher individual income tax exemptions and lowering the sales tax.

"There is a tendency for some people to think that all business is large business," Dinkelspiel said. "Figures of the state franchise tax commission show that of all business tax returns over three-quarters are from small firms. Small business is the backbone of our American economy. With the exceedingly high federal taxes, the small businessman should get a break in State tax reductions helping him to survive the heavier demands of federal taxes."

Civilian Defense

Red Cross Plans Training Program

"Will we all be sleeping in school classrooms if a bomb hits San Mateo county?"

This question was asked at a recent meeting in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools. Present were Norman Corlett, mass care coordinator; Robert Moore, county-wide shelter chairman; R. C. Pitcairn, disaster chairman for the San Mateo county Red Cross chapter: Cecil Davis, assistant director of disaster service for Pacific area Red Cross.

A survey of buildings, as planned at a meeting of the group on December 10th, has been practicaly completed. Mr. Moore and Dr. Harold Chope have already designated schools in the Redwood City, Daly City and South San Francisco areas to be used as Medical Care and Casualty Stations. As soon as schools (a total of 38) in other areas are chosen, a county-wide Shelter book be compiled and made available. Maps will also be marked to show location of buildings to be used, purpose of the use and capacity for shelter and feeding.

Training

Training of Shelter management personnel for all the facilities available in the county was also discussed. Planning was in line with the city-county joint Civil Defense Councils recommendation for the use of Adult Center classes of from 3 to 5 hours, to be given in 3 sessions. Davis stressed the advantage of utilizing, in any disaster planning, personnel who are familiar with buildings to be used—from the manager or principal to the maintenance and other staff.

Training is to cover not only operation of shelters, but the total Civil Defense operation and relation of shelter function to other Red Cross divisions of food and clothing. As the San Mateo Junior College has already shown real interest in the program, it was suggested that some of their staff be used as instructors, with the Red Cross Mass Care Manual, etc., as source material.

Barton Named To Head 1952 Heart Campaign

Bruce Barton, author and advertising executive will serve as National Chairman of the 1952 Heart Fund campaign, it was announced today by officers of the American Heart Association to its affiliate the San Mateo County Heart Association.

The annual fund-raising campaign of the American Heart Association and its affiliates will be conducted throughout the month of February to support a program of research, education, and community services to benefit patients with heart and blood vessel diseases, the nation's most serious physical health problem.

Commenting on the re-appointment of Mr. Barton, who served as National Chairman in 1951, Mr. A. V. Robertson, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Heart Association said; "In addition to spurring the general fund appeal, Mr. Barton will continue his active efforts in arousing the interest of the country's corporate and industrial leaders to the need for immediate action to reduce the high executive toll and economic waste caused by heart diseases, as well as the tremendous loss to the nation of vitally needed industrial man-power."

Objective

"A primary objective of the heart program is to support skilled research investigators who are working patiently to forge new weapons — drugs, surgery and diagnostic aids — to assist the medical profession in saving and prolonging lives. Heart Associations throughout the nation also are engaged in a vast educational program to eliminate unnecessary fear and to tell each of our citizens how he can best protect his heart. New programs are being charted and carried into action to help place workers with heart disease in jobs fitting their capacities, and to assure to the community the benefits of other necessary health services in this field."

The national goal has been set at $8,000,000. San Mateo county will be asked to provide a minimum of $20,000 if the research and local programs are to be carried out in 1952 and 1953.

Mr. Julio V. Dougherty of San Mateo served as the 1951 Heart Fund chairman. He has been asked to serve as the 1952 chairman in support of the program and campaign outlined by Bruce Barton.

Federal Tax Ceiling Called For By Official

Asserts Present Taxes Too High

"Keep the dollar moving," said W. W. Kimball, President of the Western Tax Council, at a recent press conference in Chicago, "for each time it changes hands it produces government income in the tax take. In spite of this, Washington is freezing the revenue it receives from industry which is taxed at rates ranging up to 93.4 per cent.

"The adoption of the proposed Constitutional amendment which 26 state legislatures have requested, placing a 25 per cent ceiling on income, gift and estate taxes, during peacetime—the ceiling being lifted during war or national emergency—would give the low-income bracket of tax-payers genuine relief, more take-home pay and a lowering of the cost of living. Today those in this group are actually the ones who pay. A family with an income of $3,500 gives up about one-third in direct and hidden taxes.

Hood-Winked

"The tax-payer has been blindly hood-winked into believing an unlimited tax ceiling compels industry and the so-called wealthy to pay the bulk of Federal income tax.

"As a matter of fact, if all taxable income over $10,000 a year was to be taxed at the rate of 100 per cent the additional yield would amount only to $2,500,000,000. In other words, complete confiscation of everything over $10,000 a year would not even begin to balance the budget. It would finance the government for less than a ten-day period.

Upper Realm

"When the 16th Amendment to the Federal Constitution was enacted in 1913, permitting unlimited taxation on income, a 2 per cent rate was considered ample. No one dreamed that it would soar into the upper realm where it is forcing investments in tax-exempt securities. Instead it should be creating business and plant expansions, resulting in more employment and production of more items at lesser cost. In this way the government would collect increased tax revenue from the turn-over of invested capital."

DON'T SHIELD LIGHT

If you simply cannot take the car entirely off the road to make a tire change or other minor repair at night at least remember to work in such a way that the tail light of your car will be visible to overtaking drivers, advises the National Automobile Club. A number of serious mishaps in recent months have indicated that this seemingly obvious necessity is being overlooked

Union Official Outlines Present Status Of Prudential Insurance Strike

January 15, 1952

The Record:

The strike of the Insurance Agents International Union against the Prudential Insurance Company in 35 states is now in its seventh week.

In the Bay Area, union agents are picketting offices in San Francisco, San Jose, Oakland and Berkeley. Striking agents are now picketing private residences of agents that are continuing to work for the company.

All other unions that work in the Prudential home office in Newark, N. J., joined the agents on strike, January 3. They have also joined the picket lines of the agents at the home office building.

The International officers of the union and company have been meeting several times a week at the request of Thomas G. Dougherty of the United States Mediation board. To-date the company has refused to start new negotiations.

The union has offered to place their demands before an impartial arbitration board at several of these meetings, but the company has refused to do this.

Sincerely,
Richard F. Rupprecst
President,
Local No. 52, A.F.L.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Women politicians are an odd sort, but much as we hate to admit it, have proven fairly successful.

We wonder, then, why no women have tossed their fair bonnets into the local political ring. From what we have been able to learn, our city government has had but one woman official, and never a candidate for the city council.

This appears a bit strange, especially as the fair sex blast the political trumpet the loudest in Daly City. Any wise politico will tell you that the ladies' vote will either make or break a candidate.

Conversely, we do not understand why this same group of powerful politician makers doesn't back one of their own sex. The only answer we can find is jealousy. Another gal just hates to see her next door neighbor get ahead, especially if the neighbor can sport a new title like city councilwoman.

Conviction

Most women are secretly convinced men are little more than grown up boys, and city government is nothing but an excuse for those same big boys to blow off pompous steam. They seem to tolerate officials, rather than to honestly believe they are of any conceivable use. This isn't exactly a reasonable approach (although there is some sense in the view), but it is one held by women.

Sorry

Perhaps for this reason the petticoat crowd feels sorry for the men, and doesn't want to deprive them of their fun.

Likewise, we suppose the major hinderance to a woman seeking public office is that she can't get the men to take her seriously. She can not get their backing, which she thinks is necessary, because they believe she is only "meddling."

But should a woman honestly face the problem, pull in her corset strings and meet the challenge with a stout heart and an open mind, she would discover her chances of becoming elected are great indeed.

The mere novelty of a gal running for public office creates votes in her favor. If she is a good speaker, she can be sure of that many more ballots. And all important, if she can display a "streamlined" figure to the men and a "wholesome" figure to the women, she is sure to win approval.

We honestly believe the city could use a few more capable women, if nothing more than to hold the men in check and to build a bonfire under them occasionally.

Letters Welcomed

Once more, no man can see the woman's point on any big question, and it is about time the really important element in this community was heard from.

At this writing we do not have any one woman in mind for the job. We are not interested in splitting any present factions, or questioning the ability of men candidates named, or still to be heard. We are simply curious to see whether women are really interested in their government.

How about a few letters on the subject, especially from the ladies who all these years have been complaining about the "way things are run" in this fair community?

Tom Jenkins Named Delegate To County Democratic Committee

Thomas M. Jenkins, 1148 Nimitz drive, was elected committeeman of the first supervisorial district to the San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee this week.

The Broadmoor attorney will fill a vacancy left by the resignation of George F. Wheeler, 352 San Diego avenue.

This followed the announcement that Edmund G. ("Pat") Brown, Attorney General of California and the highest Democratic elected official in the State, would be the keynote speaker at the first Democratic pre-primary Convention in the history of San Mateo county to be held next month in San Mateo, it is expected that this area will become a focal political scene of State-wide interest.

Roy Seagraves, Convention Committee Chairman, stated that, as the result of action by the County Democratic Central Committee, the date originally set for the unique event as Saturday, February 2 had been changed to Saturday, February 23. The site will be the San Mateo Junior College Auditorium in San Mateo.

"Over 200 delegates from various precincts have already been listed," said Chairman Seagraves, "and, with this additional time, we expect to have 500 delegates at the Convention eligible to endorse candidates for the four legislative offices to which this County is now entitled, namely, two Assemblymen, one State Senator and one United States Congressman."

Applications

Frank Rose, heading the Convention Committee on Committees, appointed Marion H. Kent to organize a Committee to receive applications from prospective candidates. A deadline of February 14 was set as the date by which such candidates must file in order to be permitted to appear before the Convention. Applicants were urged to contact Kent or write to hime at 1481 Burlingame avenue, Burlingame.

Heart Fund Drive Opens Next Month

J. V. Dougherty Named To Head Campaign

Julio V. Dougherty of San Mateo will again head the 1952 Heart Fund campaign for San Mateo county during the month of February, it was announced today by Dr. Richard F. McLaughlin, president of the San Mateo County Heart Association.

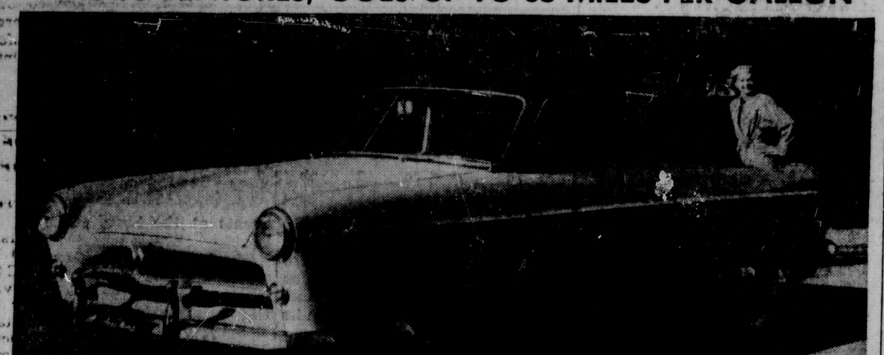
In assuming this responsibility, Dougherty said, "I have admired the splendid support and cooperation given the first Heart Fund held in this county last year. This kind of public spirit assures me that the 1952 Heart Fund will be equally successful in meeting our responsibilities to our people, the community and the nation in this fight against an incidious disease that claimed 745,000 Americans in 1950 and an alarming number right here in San Mateo county."

"Heart disease has led the cause of death in this county for years. Your San Mateo County Heart Association will have the full support of the committee which will be appointed to work with me in this campaign to raise $20,000 as our part of the $8,000,000 national goal."

TOO MUCH SPEED

There's a killer at large on our highways today, and that killer is too much speed. When you increase your speed in driving, you greatly increase your chances of getting into an accident, according to the National Automobile Club. Wise motorists always keep their speed down to the safe and sane level, adjust their speed to prevailing conditions. Wise motorists don't indulge in too much speed.

NEW AERO WILLYS SEDAN INTRODUCED BY DEALERS; HAS 90 FEATURES, GOES UP TO 35 MILES PER GALLON



TOLEDO, O. (Special)—One of the few entirely new automobiles to be introduced by an American manufacturer in over two decades, the new Aero Willys sedan is now on public display in showrooms of Willys-Overland dealers.

It is named the Aero Willys because of being "more fully engineered than any previous auto to combine principles of aeronautical design with advanced automotive engineering," according to Ward M. Canaday, company president.

Long rumored as the car which may prove to be the automotive industry's most outstanding design innovation of 1952, the Aero Willys is powered, Canaday said, with "one of the world's most efficient engines and has 90 features that add up to an entirely new concept of motoring convenience, comfort and economy."

Answer to Rising Costs

The car is designed to meet the challenges of rising motoring costs and increasing traffic density.

"Gasoline economy is unsurpassed," according to Willys engineers, who cite tests of various models "from which, with overdrive at 30 miles an hour, up to 35 miles per gallon has been obtained."

The company's mileage tests, which show proportionate fuel economy at higher speeds, have been made with regular gasoline, despite the high 7.6 to 1 compression ratio of the car's newly developed six-cylinder F-head engine, it was stated.

High operating efficiency on regular gas is a timely feature, the engineers pointed out, in view of threatened shortages of lead for high octane fuel.

The traffic problem is attacked by "revolutionary design to obtain a compact 9-foot wheelbase automobile which at the same time contains big interior space for passengers and riding qualities heretofore associated, with expensive long wheelbase cars," they reported.

Roomy Comfort for Six Adults

"The Aero Willys, for example, has room for six good sized adults. Sixty-one-inch seating width, both front and rear, is wider than most cars, while the exterior width of 72 inches is narrower than most cars, providing a full foot of clearance on either side in entering a standard 8-foot garage doorway.

"Aero-Frame construction following principles closely similar to those used in airplane building, has been used to provide a stressed steel body having reinforcing steel members welded into one strong, solidly rigid unit that will stand up under years of use without body bolt squeaks or rattles. The unit is cushioned from road shocks, and road and power transmission noises by extensive use of rubber pillows.

"The proof of a car's quality is in the driving," the engineers pointed out. "The Aero Willys goes over even rough, multiple railroad crossings smoothly at better than average speeds. Low center of gravity, only 23 inches high, virtually eliminates sway on curves.

"Wind resistance is greatly minimized by a low, tapering hood with the leading edge shaped like the edge of an airplane wing and a low roof only 60 inches from the ground. Air turbulence behind is lessened by vertical fins on the rear fenders. The highly efficient engine enables the car to cruise at 75 miles an hour using only 65 per cent of its capacity, leaving plenty of power in reserve for hills."

Driver Sees All Fenders

Other features claimed for the Aero Willys which contribute to convenience, comfort, easy driving and safety include airborne ride, with all six passengers "cradled" between the axles; panoramic visibility, enabling all four fenders to be seen from normal driving position and enabling driver to see road as close as 10 feet in front of the bumper; automatically stabilized and silenced ride; finger tip steering; oversize brakes; 19-foot turning radius; quick starting and warmup; 24 cubic feet of luggage space; pull-out glove drawer.

The car even has a feature designed to make things easier at the gas station. The gas tank inlet is located at the rear, easy to reach from either side.

Pfc Lagomarsino Gives Graphic Account Of War

Stresses Need For Blood Donors

Pfc. Eugene Lagomarsino, who was born and raised in Colma, arrived from Korea this week and presented a first hand account of what blood contributions mean to American soldiers in the battle zone.

Pfc. Lagomarsino, the brother of George R. Lagomarsino, local real estate and insurance man, is at present with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lagomarsino, of Park avenue, Los Gatos.

Pvt. Lagomarsino, who was attached to a medical unit in Korea, reports that it is undoubtedly difficult for people at home to realize the extreme hardships and battle conditions suffered by troops in Korea. He emphasized the need for continued blood contributions, explaining that the recovery of just one wounded soldier often depends on great quantities of plasma or whole blood.

Some wounds are so serious in their initial stage that blood is lost by the patient as fast as it can be replenished from supplies on hand, he related.

Prior to returning home Tuesday on a 32-hour Pan American Clipper flight from Tokyo, the Los Gatos soldier spent two and a half months in a Tokyo Army hospital recovering from sever burns suffered when fire ravaged a tent occupied by himself and fellow soldiers in Korea. Having recovered, he has been sent to Ford Ord for reassignment to duty.

Commended for Action

Before leaving for Korea five months ago, Pvt. Lagomarsino was awarded official commendation by Col. Warren S. Schelor, 1st Infantry Regiment commander at Fort Ord. The commendation read in part, "Quick action and disregard for your own safety in retrieving a dropped hand grenade, saved the life of one man and prevented injury to many."

A hand grenade thrown by another soldier while on training failed to clear the protective concrete barricade and fell among trainees. With a fast scoop of his hand, Pvt. Lagomarsino flipped the grenade over the barricade where it exploded just as it hit the ground.

Deer Kill 27% Higher

Modoc County Richest Hunting

A 1951 harvest of deer more than 27 per cent higher than the previous California record has been announced by the Department of Fish and Game.

The estimated 340,000 deer hunters afield last year brought home a total of 64,208 bucks. The former record was set in 1949, when 52,082 deer tags were returned to the State agency. The reported kill in 1950 amounted to 47,128 bucks.

Several thousand antlerless deer, taken in special hunting seasons, were not included in the new record total.

Six Reasons

Department Director Seth Gordon offered a combination of six reasons for the State's all-time high take: favorable weather and hunting conditions, a slightly later season, greater numbers of hunters, the high price of meat, removal of the forked-horn restriction in northeastern district 1¾, and recent inauguration of deer management practices designed to provide deer with adequate forage plants.

Modoc County, scene of the State's first large-scale antlerless deer hunt in 1950, produced the top county harvest in 1951. Game biologists chalked up a kill of 6,087 bucks, compared to 2,230 in 1950. The previous all-time high county record was a take of 3,627 bucks in Mendocino county in 1948.

deLeon Music Store Moves

New Location At 6789 Mission St.

Moving to new quarters this Monday will be the deLeon Music Store.

Under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. deLeon and family, the new store will be located at 6789 Mission Street. Watch The Record for an announcement of an open house.

In addition to stocking a complete line of musical supplies, the deLeons pride themselves upon their music lessons. The lessons, for anyone regardless of age or ability, are given each day in the studio. At the new location there will be five experienced instructors to teach you how to play anything from a flute to a piano.

The new store will allow room for a fine display of the latest in sheet music and record releases. And, of course, the deLeon's feature record for all speeds.

Come in, and see them soon. Remember, the new location will be at 6789 Mission. You will find the new store centrally located and within easy distance of the Daly City shopping district.

FAST BURNING SWEATERS DANGEROUS

Warning was issued by the Daly City fire department today to all residents who have, or might purchase flammable sweaters from door to door salesmen.

The sweaters are easily ignited, and burn within seconds. Two Los Angeles men suffered serious burns last month when similar sweaters they were wearing caught on fire. Fireman Mel Hansen reports the sweaters will completely burn in 30 seconds.

"We know of several such sweaters sold in Daly City," Fire Chief Elmer Kenney said. "If by chance you have purchased one of these sweaters, destroy it."

Residents are asked to report to police any door to door peddlers selling the aforesaid sweaters.

POW's Dependents Proviso Explained

Families May Draw Alloted Funds

Procedures followed by the armed forces in making provision for the dependents of fighting men reported as "missing in action" in Korea were explained today by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer of San Mateo county, in the wake of recent enemy listings of U. S. prisoners of war.

Servicemen officially listed as "missing" are presumed to be alive until death is proved, and their pay and allowances continue. Dependents still draw the family allowance, including both the money alloted by the servicemen and the money added by the government as quarters allowance.

The pay "missing" servicemen drew for themselves accumulates to their credit in the U. S. Treasury, Granger said.

Missing

If a serviceman first listed as "missing" is lated declared dead by the armed services, the surviving dependents keep the money they have received. If they are listed as official beneficiaries, they also are paid the money held by the U. S. Treasury.

Beneficiaries also receive a "death gratuity" equal to six months' base pay for the serviceman. This sum, however, doesn't include the food and quarters allowances that are paid when the serviceman is officially "missing," Granger pointed out.

Payments

Indemnity or U. S. Life insurance payments to beneficiaries of servicemen officially listed as dead are handled by the Veterans Administration and are entirely separate from the allotments and death gratuities paid by the armed services, he emphasized.

Full information on servicemen's allotments, and indemnity and insurance payments is available at the Veterans Service Office Courthouse, Redwood City.

Public Invited To Meet The VFW

National VFW Week Slated

Godfrey Woods, commander of Lake Merced Post 9921, Veterans of Foreign Wars, today issued an invitation to the public to help the Post observe National VFW Week during the period January 24-31.

"During that week," said Commander Woods, "every VFW Post member will be eager to tell any inquirer about the VFW. Post members will explain its policies, platforms, activities, operating procedures, and organization. We hope that during that week, as well as at any other time, any person, old or young, whether a potential member or not, will feel free to find out just what we are striving to accomplish, not only for disabled and needy veterans but also for the community and for the nation as a whole."

As their first community service, Lake Merced Post 9921 will donate to the cub scouts, colors for each den. The presentation of the flags will be made to Cub Pack 84 on January 24, at the Broadmoor Community Center.

Commander Woods will make the presentation on behalf of the Post.

MOTOR VEHICLE ACCIDENT SHOW INCREASE

Motor vehicle accidents in the rural areas of California showed an increase during the first eleven months of 1951 when compared with those during the same period of 1950, according to the National Automobile Club.

During the first eleven months of 1951 there were 25,628 reportable accidents, 40,528 persons injured, and 2,213 persons killed while during the same period of 1950 there were 23,310 reportable accidents, 36,498 persons injured and 1,905 persons killed.

These figures represent an increase of 9.9 per cent, 11.5 per cent, and 16.1 per cent respectively.

(This column brings you news of men in the armed service. In order that it may cover the activities of all Daly City area men, drop into The Record office, 3317 San Jose Ave., or call PLaza 5-4321.)

Corporal Dennis P. Tucker, USMCR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Tucker, 451 Winchester street, was released to inactive status on January 11.

Tucker was called to active duty on July 24, 1950, with "A" Co. of the 12th Amphibious Tractor Battalion at Treasure Island. He was then transferred to Camp Pendleton, California, for training. Later, he was transferred to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego for basic recruit training.

Upon completion of "boot" camp, Tucker was assigned duty at the U. S. Naval Station with the Marine barracks. He acted as a clerk in the U. S. Naval Station brig.

Before entering the Marines, Tucker was a meat cutter apprentice at a meat market in San Francisco.

While serving aboard the attack transport USS Cambria with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, Milburne K. Mueller, chief machinist's mate, USN, husband of Mrs. Elizabeth T. Mueller of 499 Vista Grande avenue, spent the Christmas holidays in Naples.

After attending religious services, crew members of the Cambria entertained local orphans with a turkey dinner, toys and a Santa Claus.

The Cambria is in the Mediterranean on a good-will tour.

Youths Skip Out On Bill

Four youths consumed $13 worth of dinner at the Colonial Drive-In, Junipero Serra boulevard, Colma, Sunday noon, and then discovered they had no money.

Evidently not being in the mood to wash dishes, they drove away fast, taking with them trays, knives, forks, spoons and other dinner tray equipment belonging to the restaurant. These they distributed along Washington street in Broadmoor.

They were apprehended because a waitress at the Colonial was able to obtain the license number of their car. Two of the youths are from San Francisco, one from Colma and the other from South San Francisco.

They were booked at the Broadmoor Police station and will be arraigned at the South San Francisco Justice court on January 24.

Lions Club

Narcotics Subject Of Wednesday Talk

Guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Daly City Lions Club, Wednesday, was Paul Jensen, special investigator for the San Mateo county sheriff's office.

Speaking on narcotics in San Mateo county, Jensen showed the Lions various samples of marijuana and opium. He noted the problem was well under control here, but required the constant vigilance of law enforcement officers as well as citizens.

Following Jensen's speech, Lloyd Selmi was honored by a birthday greeting from the membership.

Next week's speaker will be S. T. Ware, representative of a large cigarette concern. He will show a film on tobacco raising.

Becker has appointed Mrs. M. Herzog to head the residential committee for the Westlake area. Joseph Lewkowitz, Daly City Super Service Station manager, will head the business district.

Aliens Must Register Now

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath today reminded all aliens residing in the United States of the address report requirements of the Internal Security Act of 1950.

Some aliens are apparently under the impression that if they registered under the Alien Registration Act of 1940, they need not comply with the address report requirements of the Internal Security Act of 1950.

This is an erroneous impression. Resident aliens must file the Address Report every year. The fact that an alien registered in 1940 and filed an Address Report in 1951 does not relieve him of the responsibility of filing a report in 1952 and in each succeeding year. The Address Report must be filed even though during the year a change of address (Form AR-11) was reported to this Service. Also, displaced persons, whether or not they have filed the Semi-Annual Report of Immigrant Displaced Persons (Form DPC-12), must file the Address Report.

If an alien has applied for naturalization papers but has not yet been naturalized, he still must comply with the law and submit an Address Report Card.

Upholstery Class Enrollment Opens

There are now vacancies in the afternoon upholstery classes.

Men and women wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity of doing upholstery for home use may enroll in the afternoon classes at the following locations: Galileo high school (Van Ness avenue and Francisco street) on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. At Abraham Lincoln high school (24th avenue and Rivera street) on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Students wishing evening classes should call WAlnut 1-2707 for a place on the waiting-list.

However, afternoon classes will take students immediately. These classes will remain open for enrollment until the quota of students that can be accommodated has been filled.

These classes are a public service of the San Francisco Unified School District and are, therefore, tuition-free. For further information, please telephone WAlnut 1-2707.

Westlake PTA Schedules Rag Drive January 22

Money To Be Used In PTA Projects

The regular monthly meeting of the Westlake PTA was held Thursday evening, January 10.

Membership Chairman, Mrs. Sol Lieberman, announced that Mr. Hough's class had won the prize for having the most parents become members of the Westlake PTA and will be given a party. Mrs. Daly's class again won the rotating room prize, an aquarium, for having the best attendance at Thursday's meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Friedman, chairman for the rag drive to be held January 22, announced that each child will be given a bag to be taken home on Friday, January 18. Rags of any kind providing they are 12 inches square will be acceptable, however, no burlap, shoes or hats please.

Parents are urged to see that the bags are returned to school, filled or not, as we have to pay for any bags not returned. A treat will be given to the room bringing in the most rags.

Speaker

Miss Antoinette Gattuccio, school nurse for the Jefferson Elementary school district, was guest speaker for the evening. Miss Gattuccio resumed the Health Program of the Jefferson Elementary school district and district and gave pointers on what a parent can do to help maintain healthy school children.

Miss Gattuccio also outlined the various facilities which are available through our school district, such as home teachers, classes for the hard of hearing, mentally handicapped and cerebral palsy children.

Refreshments and table decorations for the evening were provided by the second grade parents.

Mrs. Barnell Will Host Women's Group

Mrs. Joe Barnell, 634 Circular avenue, San Francisco, will be hostess to members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Westlake Community Baptist church of Daly City, at her home, Friday at 7:30 p.m.

This will be a regular monthly meeting of the organization. All women in the church are cordially invited to attend.

March of Mothers To Aid Drive

Sheridan PTA is now organizing its "March of Mothers" campaign to aid the polio drive. For one hour, between 7 and 8 p.m. on the night of January 31, the mothers will march through the entire district to gather contributions to a great cause: the fight against polio.

The lighted porch or entrance will beckon them to the homes that are ready to contribute. All PTA units in the city are participating in the mothers' march and it is important that every block be covered.

Volunteers are still needed, and anyone in the district of Sheridan School who would care to participate may contact Mrs. J. F. Harrop, president of Sheridan PTA, at PLaza 5-0234.

Weaving Class Slated At Galileo

In response to popular demand, Marina Adult School announces classes in weaving at Galileo high school (Van Ness avenue and Francisco street) room 306 on Tuesday from 1 to 4 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

These weaving classes will teach modern, simplified weaving with emphasis on color and texture. The instruction is for beginners or advanced students who wish to become proficient in the art of weaving.

The instructor for this course is Mrs. Fern Davies who has successfully taught weaving to adults for several years. Looms of various sizes are available in the class.

The classes are a public service of the San Francisco Unified School District and are, therefore, tuition-free. For further information, please telephone WAlnut 1-2707.

Sheridan Mothers Welcomed By PTA

Mothers who accompany their kindergarten children or other new children to Sheridan School on opening day of the spring term, January 28, will be welcomed by members of Sheridan PTA. Coffee and doughnuts will be served, so that new mothers may become acquainted with each other and with PTA members.

Auxiliary Helps Hospital Veterans

Holiday activities of the San Francisco All Navy Ladies Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 3866 were reported at the first regular monthly meeting of this year held last Friday.

Mrs. Miriam Bushore of Daly City, hospital chairman for the organization, reported on the Christmas dinners and gifts that were distributed to families of veterans. Also, accompanied by Mrs. Beulah Miller, Mrs. Bushore distributed the auxiliary's regular monthly gift of ice cream to the veterans at Fort Miley last Saturday.

Announcement was made of the two fund raising projects which the auxiliary will sponsor for the benefit of veterans, their widows and orphans. On January 29 a social evening with refreshments will be held at 224 Burros street, San Francisco. This event is open to the public.

On February 29 the auxiliary will sponsor a telephone whist party. Mrs. Lucille Evans is chairman of this function assisted by Mrs. Beulah Miller. For further information call KLondike 2-3768.

Mrs. Mathilda Gianola, president of the auxiliary, stated that the 15th District meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held January 31st at the War Memorial Building.

A letter was read from Mrs. Erma Jent who with her husband is stationed at Hickam Field, Honolulu, Hawaii. The letter described many of the ceremonies, pageants and points of interest in the islands.

MOOSE PLAN FETE OF ITALIAN NIGHTS

San Francisco Lodge No. 26, Loyal Order of Moose, will stage a giant "Nite in Italy" celebration at their club rooms, 859 O'Farrell street, on Wednesday evening, January 30, at 7 p.m.

The Italian theme will predominate at both the banquet and entertainment, and the festivities will end with a grand ball in the Crystal Room at the Lodge.

George R. Reilly, governor of the San Francisco Lodge, has announced the appointment of Elios Anderlini, noted attorney, as chairman of the evening, and he will be assisted by Dr. Robert Grosso, Judge John Molinari, and John P. Figone.

Kristy Wilson Is Feted At Party

Kristy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del C. Wilson, 257 Hillside blvd., was feted at a party given her by her parents at the family home Saturday afternoon in commemoration of her fourth birthday anniversary.

The tiny guest of honor received lovely and useful presents. Besides playing games, the feted guest and her friends also enjoyed recording their voices.

Delicious refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream were served.

Included among the guests were: Arlene Watts, Jerry and Barbara Senkir, Susan Gabb, Marilyn Habit, Cathy Hill, Kathy and Sandy Kirby, Rickey Kirby, Mickey Calegari, Gail Donovan, Johnnie and Mary Messmer, Augie and Mickey Palacios, Gregory Stachnick, Kenny Messenger and Victor and Marsha Ojakian.

SMJC Events

Violin Concert Slated Friday

Dr. Doren Crosten, head of the Stanford Music Department, and Sandor Dalgo, internationally known violinist, who is the conductor of the Stanford Symphony Orchestra, will present a program this Friday noon at the junior college. These recitals are arranged by the junior college music department on the Coyote Point campus. Each program is open to the public.

Brooking Tatum, naturalist and photographer, will present a Community Hall program at the college Monday evening at 7:30. He will lecture and show color pictures of valley and foothill plant life in California. A week later, January 28, Community Hall will have an illustrated lecture on Greenland. Each Monday evening program is free to the public.

Gardening Lectures Slated Next Week

The University of California announces a series of lectures on gardening by Albert Wilson.

Commencing January 23, the classes will meet at 540 Powell street, San Francisco, each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Neighbors Club Holds Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Vickers, 155 Abbot street, entertained the members of the Abbot Street Friendly Neighbors Club at a holiday turkey dinner and dance recently.

Following an enjoyable evening of dancing and games, a midnight buffet lunch was served.

In attendance at the delightful social function besides the host and hostess were Messrs. and Mesdames Burt Bovero, Al Caime, Jack Cambridge, Ken Van Aken, Joe Doyle, Bill Gravatt, Bud Kirby, Owen MacNealy, Chet Olmanson, Al Seidel and Ray Urbanus.

New officers for the Friendly Neighbors Club are: secretary, Mrs. Olmanson and treasurer, Mrs. Kirby.

Crocker Group Holds Meeting

Plans for Founder's Day were made at the first meeting of the new year of the Crocker Parent-Teacher association held January 8, at the Crocker school.

The Founder's Day meeting will be February 5 at 7:30 p.m. instead of on the regularly scheduled meeting date, February 12, which is a holiday. Mrs. Carl Berg is chairman for Founder's Day.

The first reading in the change in the by-laws was given by Mrs. Julia Jordan. January 22 is the date of the next hot dog sale.

Sheridan PTA Plans Grad Party

A graduation party is being planned for students of the high sixth grade by Sheridan PTA.

Boys and girls of the graduation class will be served a luncheon in the school auditorium from 12 to 1 on Tuesday, January 22. An original play and folk dancing will be presented by the children.

Mrs. Cornelius Kemp, chairman, cordially invites interested relatives to attend.

The California State Library has more than 1500 reproductions of famous paintings available for loan.

Dream Come True

New Towne and Beach Tog Shoppe Opens In Westlake Shopping Center

By Sylvia Lebrun
Fashion Editor

A dream come true.

That's how visitors and customers to the new Towne and Beach Tog Shoppe in Westlake's Shopping Center are describing the ultra modern headquarters for men's and women's casual wear.

The store, which opened this week, is possibly the most attractive men's and women's store we have seen in many years. Not only is there a complete stock of merchandise from slacks for him, to sportswear for her, but it is displayed in a unique and striking manner.

Virginia Bender, who is operating the store with her husband, Orin, explained:

"We were confronted with the problem of poles down one side of the store. We called in the noted designer, C. E. Murphy, who struck upon the idea of the display you see here." She pointed to a system of modernistic racks and shelves which allow customers free access to all the goods.

"You might say we have a type of self service here," Mrs. Bender added. And from what we could see, this is the first store where all the merchandise is attractively displayed, allowing the customer to examine it without the benefit of clerks.

Mrs. Bender noted, too, that this is the first such method of displaying women's and men's clothing ever used in California.

Although the Towne and Beach Tog Shoppe stocks just about every clothing need for men and women, the emphasis is definitely on casual wear. This is typified by the displays we saw which starred attractive blouses, sweaters, scarfs, jewelery and robes for "her"; as well as jackets, sports shirts, and sports coats for "him."

With four years of experience in this area behind them . . . the Benders operated a similar shop at 3415 Taraval . . . the unique man and wife team feel they are in an excellent position to serve the clothing needs of the community.

"We hope many Daly City residents and their friends will pay us a visit during the next few weeks," Mr. Bender said. "We are sure they will be more than pleased with what they see."

The Towne and Beach Tog Shoppe will be open every day, except Monday, from 10 to 7 p.m., and on Sundays from 11 to 4 p.m. And for your convenience the store will remain open until 9 p.m. on Friday.

Eagles Lodge Will Hold Social

All members of the Eagles lodge are invited to an old time social evening planned for Saturday night.

Beginning at 9 p.m. the function will be held at the Eagles Hall, 3346 San Jose avenue.

Coffee as a beverage was introduced from Arabia into Turkey, where the "coffee house" began in 1554.

City College Theatre Gives One-Act Plays

Three one-act plays will be given by the City College of San Francisco Little Theatre, January 24, 25 and 26 at the school, Ocean and Phelan streets.

The performances on January 25 and 26 are open to the public and will begin at 8:30 p.m.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Young Readers

WHEN I WAS a little girl, my mother used to clear the decks for herself and the other women of the household on many a holiday morning by sending us all off on a picnic. This was no mere pleasure expedition, we had to take the very small brother and sister along and keep them amused until afternoon.

We went "up on the hill," where there were oaks, a view of the Pacific, and a breeze on the hottest day. We took sumptuous meals, because we packed them ourselves. We took extraneous matters like knives, string, pencils for games, salt for potatoes baked in ashes, a pan for bacon. We dragged a milk tin of cold water.

But above all we took books. The pervading fear seemed to be that we might run out of reading matter. Everyone took three or four. Lying on the brown California hillside, with the oaks over us and the flashing shadows of buzzards and meadow larks moving overhead, with the small children murmuring beside the tiny brook and the afternoon sun going down over faraway San Francisco, we read.

Good Books

We read some rubbish, I suppose, although the supply of it was not what it is today. We also read Dickens, Thackeray, Tennyson and both Kingsleys. We memorized poems: "The Lady of Shalott," 'Sohrab and Rustum," "Prospice," "Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill." We learned Lincoln's Gettysburg address by heart. Hundreds of shorter poems recited with great gesticulation then, remain with me to this day.

". . . also read Dickens . . ."

My taste ran to the domestic and tales of large families; Miss Yonge, Miss Carey, Mrs. Molesworth. Every character of Miss Alcott's was, of course, a household word.

My sister, destined one day to marry a poet, loved poetry even at ten. She read "The Idylls of the King," "Marmion," and "The Ring and the Book" before she could grasp half their meaning. She compiled her own book of favorite poems, that ranged from Shakespeare through Rosetti, Imogen Guiney, Lisetta Reese, Andrew Lang and a hundred others down to Gilbert of the "Bab Ballads." She loved Emily Dickenson long before ever the world did.

We would go home from these outings weary, carrying bunches of yarrow or Michaelmas daisies for my mother's vases, leading small bedraggled happy children who were scented by tarwood and sunshine, oakleaves and sooty baked potatoes. And our souls would be filled with the glory of immortal words. We reported our literary progress to my father at supper, and he matched our discoveries with his own. Fifty years after his voice was silenced, many a classic line comes back to me now in his accents.

Happy Childhood

How much a happy childhood does to create a happy life, who knows? My own life comes back to happiness after all its storms and stresses like a gyroscope. And the part that good books contributed in those young years is incalculable.

If only to show us what other men and women, in other great world crises, have endured and felt and cured, books are great teachers. M a cauley's England, Nansen and Shackelton seeking the poles, Swift, so weak and so witty, with his Stella and his Vanessa, Pepys, Evelyn, Patmore and Thompson, and the moderns, Bolitho, Strachey—how they prove to us that terrors need not be realized, that stout courage wins against all odds!

Don't cheat yourself out of good reading. For our children the way is blocked by movies, radio, comics, television. They have no time for great words, for Steerforth lying dead in the cruel tide, "as I had often seen him lie as a boy, at school," for Cleopatra's good-bye to her handmaidens.

But for any woman who feels her amusements rather puerile, and her leisure somewhat wasted, I recommend the stalwart old classics that have inspired men and women for generations. Not Chaucer, perhaps, he is too irritating; not necessarily Bunyan, Smollett, Fielding. But "Adam Bede" again, and "Bleak House," "Emma," and "Alice for Short." Read Stephen Benet's "Mountain Whipperwill," and Vachel Lindsay's "General Booth." Moore's "Evelyn Innes" stands alone in its field.

Pictured are (left to right) Carol Milder, Janis Bell, Robbie Cullen, Phyllis Halpren and Jean Palazy. These youngsters and all members of the new cooperative nursery school, Village Play School, are holding open house on Sunday, January 27 from 2 to 4. All parents and children are invited to attend and to watch how a co-op operates. Address: Dunks street, Colma. School will be in session with mothers Mrs. Alex Land, Mrs. John Tingley, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Mrs. R. E. Malone and Mrs. Fred Kreutzer demonstrating mother-teacher techniques.

Village Play School

Background For Open House

By Merrit Beckerman

Probably by now most of the people who lent their support to the newly organized Village Play School by buying tickets for their fund-raising barn dance back in August have forgotten both their own generosity and the cause they sponsored.

If they could have been present at the school last Wednesday, they would have witnessed an event which alone would have repaid them for their kindness and help. Dick Ford, talented young member of the Halpern-Lathrop Dance Group, arrived at the school to present the first of weekly dancing "lessons" to the nursery tots. The participating mothers (each mother helps out at school one day a week) watched with surprise and delight as their children danced the story of Bambi, freely and spontaneously expressing in motion their concepts of the deer and his forest friends playing and resting in the forest. The children not only had a good time, but they found a new outlet for their feelings and energies.

Dancing

The dancing is only one of the many exciting experiences which have rewarded parents and children alike after many months of hard work and careful planning to bring into being a cooperative nursery school for this area. Since the school is planning an open house on Sunday, January 27, from 2 to 4 p.m. (bring the entire family for play and refreshments), a brief review of the history of the school seems in order.

The school began in the minds of a small group of parents who had had experience with cooperative mother-participating nursery schools, or who had heard of them. Exploring the possibility of organizing such a school locally, they called a meeting by word of mouth and through the cooperation of local papers and of interested parents. Before very long a substantial group was working with the San Francisco Council for Cooperative Nursery Schools. Officers were elected, committees appointed. At each meeting membership and enthusiasm grew. The major problems facing the group were two: They needed a building to house the school, and they needed money.

Much Fun

Let no one think that the months following were undiluted fun. They were satisfying, yes, but work was hard and on more than one occasion tempers wore thin, enthusiasm flagged. But the dream was compelling, and when the Colma Community Center Trustees made that building available and offered generous financial cooperation, the school became real. Mrs. Margaret Pauline Brown, Mr. Michael C. Callan, Mr. Attillio Conserva, and Mrs. Anne Flick should be proud indeed of another contribution to the community.

There followed a period of inspections and licensing by the various agencies concerned with protecting the safety and welfare of children, of planning and executing the needed alterations and repairs on the building, of sponsoring the barn dance to raise the money to pay for repairs and for equipment, of getting out on weekends and at night to do as much work as possible to save money, in short, of creating the nursery school.

Good Support

The Jefferson Union high school district lent the school support, too. The teacher for the night classes for mothers and for the morning sessions of the nursery school is provided by the adult education program. Mrs. Honorah Wade has offered friendship and leadership to the mothers and children both.

The dance was a success—a greater success than anyone in the group had hoped for. Nearly two thousand dollars profit was cleared. A full account of how this money was used will appear in The Record before the open house is held. But to get any picture of the children at the school, indoor and outdoor play equipment, printing, music, books, modeling in clay, pasting, dolls and play clothes, blocks, as well as the supervised activities one must spend some time at the school.

Open House

The closest non-participating adults can get to such observation will be at the open house on January 27. Unfortunately there will be no dancing, for the children are not on display. But all the play equipment and materials will be available for the children who attend that afternoon—members and non-members alike. Refreshments will be served: Coffee for adults; punch for the children, and plenty of cookies for all. The Village Play School is eager to thank as many of their benefactors as possible, and to thank them in person.

The school is grateful to the community for the support it has received and extends an invitation to all to drop in on January 27 between two and four.

Parents interested in the school should consult the membership chairman, Mrs. Marian Connolly, 206 Village Lane, PLaza 5-6649. There are at present a limited number of openings.

Brain teasers have always fascinated us. Here are two of our favorites. Can you figure them out? We will give the correct answers in next week's Record.

Here goes: What English word in every day use is completed by adding just one letter to the front of the letter combination, "eny?"

Brain Teaser, No. 2—A train leaves Los Angeles for San Francisco at 9 a.m. travelling at the rate of 80 miles an hour, and at 10 a.m. a train leaves San Francisco for Los Angeles travelling at the rate of 85 miles an hour. What train will be the nearest to San Francisco when they meet?

As long as everyone else is passing comments on the weather, why not us? We overheard this in a Daly City store. One of the employees said, "We wanted to bowl last night but when we got there all the alleys were filled."

Asked his companion, "With water?"

It appeared he meant with other bowlers.

Pity the poor elevator operators in the big office buildings. All day long they must have to listen to every trite comment about the "unusual weather" ever conceived by the mind of man.

A feline counterpart of the kid turned loose in the candy store is the existence led by a cat we know who lives in a store where all kinds of pet foods are sold. The foods are all in large open bins and as a result the cat has sampled all of them and picked out her favorites on which she dines regularly.

The movie, "Decision Before Dawn" currently showing in bay area theatres, has much to recommend it besides an exciting story. The movie is filmed in Germany where the action takes place and consequently theatregoers are afforded the chance to see the awful havoc brought about by wars.

Also the acting is outstanding. A newcomer, Oskar Werner, has the leading role. He is a boy about twenty and the artistry and technique of his performance is remarkable.

All the others of the cast, [illegible] contribute noteworthy performances, including Richard Basehart, Gary Merrill and Hildegarde Neff.

Although showing much of the horror of wars, there is little brutality in the picture.

Colma Group Will Honor Member

The Colma PTA's Life Membership Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Chessman, has made its selection of the person to receive a Life Membership from the Unit this year.

The honor will be bestowed on someone who has given outstanding service to the Colma PTA and the community, as well as to the welfare of children, during the past year.

Those serving on the committee with Mrs. Chessman were the Mesdames Jack Clayton, J. D. Hopper, Allan Mori, and Dale Stookey. The Life Membership will be presented at the Founders' Day meeting, February 5.

The Colma PTA was well-represented at the 17th District Meeting and Publicity Luncheon by the Mesdames Edward J. Dennis, Stella Jensen, J. D. Hansen, J. D. Hopper, and John C. Wiesner. Mrs. Jensen is the District Life Membership chairman and Colma PTA's Auditor, while Mrs. Dennis is the District Mailing Chairman and Membership Chairman of Colma PTA. Mrs. Hansen is the Year Book Chairman and Mrs. Hopper is the Outside Publicity Chairman. Mrs. Wiesner, who is president, handles the Inside Publicity.

The committees appointed for the Leap Year Fashion Show and Silver Tea to be held February 29 will have a meeting Tuesday morning, January 22, at 10 a.m. at the Jefferson elementary school. All members of the various committees are requested to attend.

According to the answers to the personality questionnaire, an individual who signs himself as "A.C." has an easy-going, happy personality. Although he states he does not like to have his plans changed, the fact that this causes him annoyance is offset by his assertion that the weather does not noticeably effect his moods and that he does not have any movie preferences.

His hobbies are gardening and wood-working, both of which illustrate that "A.C." is a relaxed, happy individual with considerable peace of mind.

FAULTY WHEEL ALIGNMENT

Faulty alignment of your automobile's front wheels can cause undue tire wear, strain on the steering mechanism, and uneven brake operation, says the California State Automobile Association. Have your front wheels lined up for safer and smoother driving.

DEAR PARENTS
By Jane Keith

Remember the story of the boy who talked to horses, and Francis, the movie-made mule, who talked to people? And long before either of these, the fairy and folk tales of animals talking on All Hallows Eve and the night before Christmas? I remember, I remember—but let me tell of the housewife who suddenly realized she could speak the language of cats—and rats—and who could argue with the birds. Her story might well be yours if your children have pets around the house! It IS my story.

Mr. Murphy, a tortoise shell tabby with an irish disposition, was the one who made me polish up on my meows—forgotten since childhood. He simply refused to listen to English commands, requests or coaxings. Anyone who called "Here kitty, kitty-kitty" to Mr. Murphy received only a disdainful flip of striped tail for their answer—and a lightning flash of sharp claws if they got too close. It was "Murow, murow" in dulcet tones for Murphy—or nothing. I learned to "Murow"!

I learned to "Murow"—not so much for love of Murphy, but from necessity. He was Barbara's cat and they murowed beautifully together, but not at feeding and cleaning time. Somehow, when M. was nonchalant about his box of dirt and used the basement floor instead—or tried to push me to one side as I opened the refrigerator to get the roast out for dinner—I was there and Barbara wasn't. Soon Murphy was an open book to me and as I grabbed him by the scuff of his neck, I could give him as good as he gave!

Tommy Arrives

Then Tommy came! All grey he was, except for a round white belly and a tip to his tail like it had been dipped in his saucer of milk—and gentle. He had a racous "Meaaa" and a throaty purr that took me weeks of practice to imitate perfectly. Naturally, I couldn't keep Tommy beside me while practicing so I purred to Malcolm and Barbara who accepted it as children do so many adult quirks and purred right back to me.

Up to the time of Tootsie the female we had not been bothered with cat visitors from the outside world, but the moment Tootsie was old enough to catch mice and grasshoppers in the backyard—not only I, but the whole household, received nightly instruction in the love calling of cats. A natural thing, you say, but when my nephew and his girl friend held hands one fine night at our house—I did it! 'MOWWWWW" I cat moaned with my head thrown back in the air—and they jumped higher than Tootsie's boy friends on the fence.

Silence

In the embarrassed silence following my outburst, I realized that my command of catese had progressed in leaps and bounds and that I could really put over my point in that language. But, as my husband later said, people appreciate tact more than truth and couldn't I taper off to purring again? Maybe give it up all together? What my nephew said later will not bear repeating—but his new girl friend is nicer, anyway!

Many months later—and just as I was getting myself under control—Barbara purchased two rats; Squeakie and Miss Nosy Parker. She also bought a parrakeet named Paradise and between them the vicious circle started up again. Paradise squawks, cheeps and scolds. The rats chuck softly.

I am afraid that someday soon, perhaps after a long day of rain and ironing with only the rats, the cats and the bird for my companions, I will greet my husband at door with a soft "Chuckkkkk"—or do the faux pas again with a loud "Squwauk—cheeeeeep" as the Jewel Tea man presents the new, higher listing for coffee. . . .

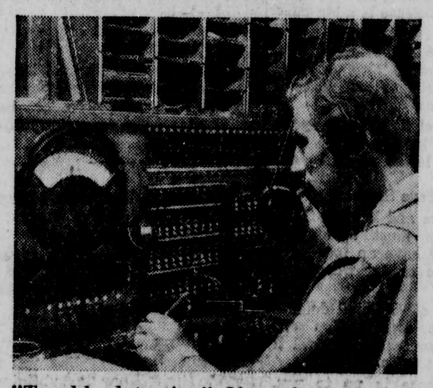
"Pole stubbers" at work: Inspection has revealed a pole which shows damage at the ground line. Now, reinforced with a short length, it will be strong as new, and we'll have saved much of the cost of a new pole.

LINE PATROL
How we stop telephone trouble—before it starts!

"Will it work when I want it?"—that's perhaps the most important thing you want to know about your telephone. That's what we want to be sure of, too. And that's why repairmen, testers, inspectors and many other telephone specialists are constantly at work to make sure your calls go through. The term we use is preventive maintenance. And it simply means testing and inspecting thousands of miles of lines and cables, and checking switching equipment constantly—on foot, in trucks and electronically—to find and fix any part of our complex system which might cause future trouble.



"Trouble detective": If our electronic testing equipment spots possible line trouble, his testing devices locate the difficulty—and a repair crew is dispatched to stop the trouble before it can interrupt your service. All over our system, we are alert, 'round the clock, to make sure you'll have the world's most dependable telephone service.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

Few of the things you use in your daily life have gone up less, in these inflationary times, than the rates for telephone service. Even though our costs of providing service have skyrocketed, your telephone calls remain one of today's best buys.

U. S. Needs Civil Defense

ONE FIRST AID STATION WOULD NEED 200 WORKERS

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

The most staggering civil defense problems are public education, training, and organization. All must be solved without delay. Immediate training for some 15,000,000 Americans, and intensive education in self-protection for 135,000,000 others are vital. Here are some facts and figures for you to think about.

Try to picture the number of trained workers that would be needed to handle an attack situation. As an example, a single first-aid station should consist of almost 200 workers. They could handle about 600 wounded people in 24 hours.

To care for those injured by one Hiroshima-size atomic bomb, nearly 100 such first-aid stations would be needed. That adds up to more than 20,000 first-aid workers needed for each atomic bomb—but it doesn't include hospital staffs.

An engineering service as large or even larger would be needed to clear away the rubble before first-aiders could reach the wounded. A highly trained rescue service would be needed to get people out of wrecked or burning buildings. A large and efficient supply service would be needed to bring in food, clothing, and medicine.

Job of Helping Homeless

There would be other jobs of putting out fires, restoring utilities, caring for the homeless, gathering families together again, feeding the people, and getting the factories and community life rolling once more.

Most of the ways of meeting atomic disaster are not new or different, except in size. The biggest problem is to prepare ourselves to handle disasters greater than any that ever have struck the United States.

Remember what you read in the previous article about the Japanese at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They were almost completely unprepared — and what happened? Their indifference in organizing an efficient civil defense should be a grim warning to us.

Here are some really important things to remember. They make up civil defense:

1. A possible enemy has the weapons now to attack us.

2. There is a defense against any attack, including atomic warfare, and civil defense is a big part of it.

3. At least 15,000,000 Americans must be trained in civil defense, and every American must learn the facts of survival.

4. Without civil defense your city would be helpless; with civil defense, your losses could be cut in half.

Must Have Support

5. Your State and local civil defense directors must have your support. They have an important job for you no matter where you live.

6. Read the official civil defense booklets right away. You can double your chances of survival if you know what to do.

7. Civil defense is up to you. Get into civil defense right now.

The biggest problem before us now is to be prepared on the home front—and that problem can be met only through civil defense. Each of us must have a job to do if trouble comes—and must know how to do it.

(The next article will discuss who is responsible for civil defense.)

Hunting License Plan Simplified

Eliminates Subterfuge For Special Permits

A combination deer hunting tag and application for permit to hunt during special deer seasons will make things easier for both sportsmen and the California Department of Fish and Game in 1952.

Fish and Game Commissioners, at their first January meeting, approved a plan for printing a blank application on the back of each $1 deer tag. The application would be sent to the Department's Sacramento office with the hunter's first and second choices for participation in any special seasons to be announced this year.

The new system would automatically eliminate subterfuge in applying for special permits, according to H. R. Dunbar, chief of license sales. Hunters would be restricted to participation in one special hunt each year. One drawing of applications is planned for all future deer hunts aside from the regular hunting seasons.

The lottery-type selection system successfully used in 1951 would be applied to future special hunts. Friends who wish to hunt together may mail applications in the same envelope with a reasonable chance of being issued permits together if either name is drawn.

AAA Car Races

Sprint Racing Opens 1952 Coast Season At Bay Meadows This Sunday

Big car "sprint" racing, the middleweight division of auto competition, takes the spotlight Sunday with an all-star array of AAA drivers set to open the 1952 Pacific Coast season.

Eight events are carded, beginning with the time trials at 1 p.m. The two fastest qualifiers battle it out for the Paul Dibert Motors gold trophy at 2:15 p.m. Next are four five-lap heat races involving six cars each.

Topping the speedfest are the 10-lap semi-main and the 25-lap feature. The latter will pit 14 cars against each other over the fast, dustless one-mile dirt oval. In the event of rain on Sunday, the program moves over to the following Sunday.

The entry list is topped by such kings as Johnnie Parsons, 1950 Indianapolis winner who captured the 150-miler on November 11; Troy Ruttman, winner of the 1951 triple-A Midwest and Pacific Coast feature over the aforementioned pair; Bob Gregg, two-time Pacific Northwest champion; Duane Carter, former Midwest sprint king; Bob Sweikert, "Hayward Express;" Billy Ryan, San Francisco; Joe Roletto, San Mateo; Dave Carter, Stockton; "Flash Gordon" Reid; "Bullet Joe" Garson; Andy Linden, 4th last year at Indianapolis; Jack McGrath, 3rd last year in the "500;" and others.

Yo-Yo Contest Slated To Open Here January 26

Many Prizes Offered Winners

The Daly City Recreation Department will soon sponsor a YO-YO contest, with prizes furnished by the Duncan Yo-Yo Company, for any boy or girl up to 16.

Contests will be held at 11 a.m. at Lincoln and Marchbanks playgrounds on the following dates: Saturday, January 26; Saturday, February 2; Saturday, February 9.

Playground championship contests will be staged February 16, and a city-wide championship contest will be staged February 23.

Winners of weekly contests will receive attractive emblems. First, second and third place winners on the first and second weeks cannot win on the following weeks, but they are eligible for the playground finals.

Playground finalists will receive two fine awards. The boy champions win wool sweaters with "gold star" shield, and the girl campions take home gold charm YO-YOs. The city champion will be awarded a chenile shield, and is eligible to advance to a state district contest. Runner-up receives a jumbo YO-YO.

The boy or girl who is able to win the district championship will receive a trophy, and he or she moves up to the state finals. The state champion will be awarded a $1,000 cash scholarship; second place a $500 cash scholarship; and all other state final contestants receive a $90 Schwinn bike.

Consult the playground directors for the rules in the weekly contests.

Jeff Cagers Score Upset... Down San Jose

Half Moon Bay Fight Friday

Scoring one of the biggest basketball upsets in 10 years, Jefferson cagers dumped the San Jose five by two points in the first game of the Peninsula Athletic League last Friday.

Although San Jose was chosen second in the PAL league this year, the Jeffersons pushed them down to the basement in the fast moving game Friday. The Jeffs lead all the way, and dropped behind only in the last quarter when Coach Mike Orlich had most of his subs on the line.

Big gun of the evening was Dan Delbon who rang up 16 points. The forward was followed close by Don Wilson, guard, who hit the basket for 10 points.

The 30's were not so fortunate. They lost to San Jose by the score of 40 to 12.

This Friday evening, at 7:30 on the Jefferson floor, the cagers will take on Half Moon Bay high.

Junior Basketball Squad Members Receive Medals

Cagers Honored At Assembly

The first assembly of the year was held at the Colma school last Tuesday, January 8, to honor the teams representing the school during the past football season.

Silver medals furnished by the Daly City recreation department were presented by Harry Aronson, coordinator of recreation, to members of the championship "A" team.

Medal winners were Ben Trotter, Richard Marquez, Ray Lippert, Ron Cryer, Joe Cardinali, Ken Kleese, Bob Bailey, Cortez Fernandez, Daryl Hutchinson, Gerald Gruenwald and Captain Bob Grubb.

Bronze medals were awarded the members of the championship "B" team composed of Richard Riley, Raymond Del Pape, Don Miller, Richard Deal, Leroy Franzoia, Andrew Ruelas, Myron Kay, Gene Mascarenes, Charles Thur and Captain Daryl Hall.

Marjorie Tobias, principal of the Colma school, complimented the team members for their fine accomplishments and added a word of praise to the coaches, Dan Sienes and Harry Aronson for their leadership and guidance during the football season.

With the basketball league starting this Friday, January 18, the Colma teams will be out to capture another championship. However, the boys from Our Lady of Perpetual Help are determined to prevent this if they have anything to do about it.

Free Fishing Book Available

The little known story of the nets which are of major importance in California's mighty fishing industry, is told in an 88-page illustrated fish bulletin titled "Purse Seines and Other Roundhaul Nets," just published by the State Department of Fish and Game.

The booklet is available without charge at the Department's Ferry Building office here. It provides a comprehensive historical outline of fishing from the primitive beach nets of prehistoric times to the highly mechanized multi-million dollar purse seine fleet of today.

Methods of tying and rigging nets are fully detailed in sketches and text. Uses are explained by the author, W. L. Scofield, senior marine fisheries biologist at the State's Terminal Island Laboratory.

This is the latest in a series of fishing gear bulletins by the author. Earlier booklets described drift and set line fishing gear and trawling gear used by California fishermen.

Cobalt is a minor but essential element in livestock feed.

Daly City Boys Form Model Airplane Club... Invite Interested Lads To Join

By Ronald Specht

Ever thought of building and flying model planes? Six Daly City boys did some very deep thinking about it, but tired of just thinking, these boys got together and did something about it.

Two weeks ago on Friday, January 4, these boys met in the back room of Joe's Hobby Shop at 77 Hillcrest Drive. That was the start of the "Prop-Busters," a club for boys interested in building and flying model airplanes.

Any boys living in or around Daly City who share this interest, or feel they would like to create it are invited to stop in at Joe's any week night to get the inside dope; or, better yet, drop in on Tuesday between 7:30 and 9 p.m. while the boys are having their regular meeting so you can meet all the boys and really find out just what the club is all about.

Plans are already in progress for two or more contests a year, these contests will be open only to "Prop-Busters." This will give the boys a chance to show off their models and flying skills in speed and stunt control-line flying. There will be a contest sometime late in February or early in March. Members in the club by February 1 will be eligible for this first contest. Exact date of this contest will be announced soon—watch The Record for this and further news of this new organization.

O.K., you model enthusiast, we'll be looking for you Tuesday and other week nights. Bring your friends, they will want a chance to get in on this rewarding hobby.
